Sailing School Vessel Corwith Cramer made her first visit to Dennis Conner's North Cove today and is berthed in slip N1.

At 138 feet in length, she is considered a Brigantine ship. Her hull is made of steel and she was built in 1987 in Bilbao, Spain.

The Corwith Cramer is owned and operated by Sea Education Association Inc. out of Woods Hole, MA. They operate academic programs on these boats which focus on seafaring and ocean science.

Corwith Cramer will be at North Cove through Monday. She is another beautiful site and you are encouraged to come down and take a look at her.
