Mike Horn's Pangaea arrived yesterday at Dennis Conner's North Cove and is docked in slip S5.

Pangaea is a 115' foot polar expedition yacht. "Extremely interesting" is just the first of many superlatives which can be used to describe this solid and quite massive aluminum yacht.

Mike Horn is a modern adventurer-explorer who has undertaken some incredible feats of human endurance, determination and courage.

His latest project Pangaea will be a four year environmental expedition around the world. This is a great story and you can find out more at www.mikehorn.com

Pangaea is only scheduled to be here in New York City through Sunday so don't miss this opportunity to come see a boat that will be making headlines around the world over the next few years.
